9. Commissioner Reports

Commissioner Morris - There is alot happening in Salem now. The legislature is under way and we are watching alot of bills and 8 or 10 of them are priorities of the business community. She said there is also a list related to health and human services and she is also following our YIP capital construction project. She will be in Salem most of next week for the AOC day at the capital and the OR Justice Commission Conference. She said she is happy to see snow today.

Commissioner DeGroot - He will also be in Salem for the first part of next week. He said, last week was a little slower as he has been ill for the last several days but is finally coming out of it. He said he is happy to see the snow too and reminded people to drive slowly and be careful out there.

Commissioner Boyd - He was in Medford last week working with some builders and contractors looking for work force housing opportunities. The conversation didn't go as well as he hoped. He went to Lakeview last week to learn about Biochar. It is a very interesting process. He is working with KCEDA to bring a manufacturing group into the the County. He said, the people at KCEDA are working hard to try to help economic development in our County. He has been working with Werner Reschke on a bill to help improve self esteem in the under privileged citizens in our County and to try to help them become more self sufficient.
